

Holly Tse, CMP

CHINESE REFLEXOLOGY POINTS FOR A COLD

Here's my cheat sheet on how to locate and massage the Chinese reflexology points for a cold. As a full-time mom to a toddler, I created this reflexology routine to help me recover from a cold fast because I couldn't afford to be sick.

Please note that this information is for reference only and doesn't replace proper medical care or common sense! Reflexology is generally very safe, but if you are pregnant or have an acute heart condition, do not practice this routine. If you're not sure whether it's safe for you to practice reflexology, please check with your doctor first.

Massage these points 4x a day to boost your body's cold-fighting Qi (energy). To read detailed articles about this reflexology routine, please visit my website at: <http://wp.me/p22bhU-I>

Wishing you abundant health,
Holly

1. LUNGS

Location

Ball of the foot under 3 middle toes

Massage Technique

Press deeply with thumbs rubbing in small circles for 1 min. each foot

2. SINUSES

Location

Tip of underside of big toe

Massage Technique

Rub with thumb side-to-side for 30 seconds each foot

3. TONSILS

Location

2 points under knuckle of big toe

Massage Technique

Press with knuckles. Dig and twist for 30 seconds each foot.

4. THROAT

Location

Point at base of first two toes

Massage Technique

Use knuckle to dig and twist for 20 seconds each foot

5. LYMPH

Location

Web between first two toes

Massage Technique

Use knuckle to stroke down from base of toes to where bones meet

SHARE THE LOVE

You're welcome to share this cheat sheet as long as you include a credit to me (Holly Tse) and a link back to my website.

If you received this diagram from a friend, I invite you to join my mailing list for free lessons on Chinese Reflexology.

For more articles and tools to help you stay healthy and thrive, visit:

www.ChineseFootReflexology.com